Misericordia Hospital Demolition - 99 Cornish Avenue

Demolition work began on January 11, 2012 at the Misericordia Health Complex, the start of a $43-million development. A wrecking ball was used to cave in the roof of a 106-year-old building, the Maryland South building. The redevelopment will take place in two phases. Phase one involves building a two-storey complex that accommodates the Buhler Eye Centre-- the largest facility of its kind in Western Canada-- and the new University of Manitoba Ophthalmology residency program. The complex's ambulatory diagnostic centre will relocate from the fourth floor to be closer to Urgent Care and Ambulatory Care. The new complex will house PRIME, a new day health centre for the elderly.

The second phase of the redevelopment will include demolition of the Sherbrook building and replacing it with a new chapel and front entrance and two-storey glass-walled atrium. Photo courtesy of Christian Cassidy.
